Whitson was occupied during the period September 21 through September 24 with other matters of a more expeditious nature. Branigan, while aware of the urgent work already in Whitson's possession, assigned the memorandum to Whitson for review since Whitson was familiar with the situation and to have assigned it to another Supervisor would have consumed considerable time in research and file reviews. There was no urgency or deadline to be met in the review of the memorandum other than that it be handled promptly in accordance with the Bureau's procedures.

CONCLUSION:

Despite mitigating factors, too much time was consumed in handling this matter.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended the attached letter regarding the necessity of prompt handling of such matters go forth to Mr. Belmont.
